
THE JOURNAL OF BEHAVIORAL HEALTH SERVICES & RESEARCH

Author Guidelines

Purpose of the Journal

The Journal of Behavioral Health Services & Research (JBHS&R) is a quarterly journal and is the official publication of the Association of Behavioral Healthcare Management (ABHM), an individual membership section of the National Council for Community Behavioral Healthcare (NCCBH). It is a peer-reviewed, multidisciplinary journal that publishes articles on the organization, financing, delivery, and outcomes of behavioral health (including mental health and substance abuse) services.

Submission of Manuscripts

JBHS&R will review a manuscript for publication with the understanding that it has not been previously published (in full or in part) either in print or on-line, and is not currently being reviewed for publication elsewhere. JBHS&R invites contributions in the form of Regular Articles (average length 20 pages, not including references, tables, or figures), Policy Perspectives (16 pages), Commentaries (16 pages), Brief Reports (10 pages), Letters to the Editor (1 page), and Book Reviews (1 page). Neither the length of the paper nor the category that the manuscripts are assigned necessarily reflects their importance to the field.

Manuscripts may be submitted via e-mail or through U.S. mail (in quadruplicate, along with a copy on a new computer diskette). In addition, include a cover letter stating that the material has not been published (in full or in part) either in print or on-line and is not under consideration for publication elsewhere. Submit manuscripts to

Manuscript Preparation

Manuscripts must be submitted in Microsoft Word (preferably PC-based). Do not use the graphics option for tables or the sequential (embedded) footnote option.

Identical hard copy and electronic files should be submitted for all text and all artwork. All disks submitted must be new. Disks and the cover letter must be clearly labeled as to operating system and software application.

Manuscripts must be typed on one side, only using 8 1/2 by 11-inch paper, double-spaced (including abstracts, footnotes, block quotations, references, tables and appendixes), with one-inch margins on all sides. Text pages should be numbered consecutively starting with the first page of the paper. Do not right justify the manuscript text. The use of first person (i.e., I, we, our) in the manuscript narrative should be avoided. In addition, authors are expected to use "person/people first" language (e.g., "individuals with chronic mental disorders" rather than "the chronic mentally ill").

Manuscript Contents

Manuscripts should be ordered as follows: title page, abstracts, text, references, appendixes, tables, and any illustrations. Each manuscript must include the following:

Title Page: Include title, key words for indexing, name(s) of author(s), academic degree(s), name and address of organization where the work was done, and any acknowledgments, credits, or disclaimers. On a separate page list the name, position title, complete and current mailing address, telephone, fax and electronic mail numbers for all authors. Names of authors should not appear on text pages. A secondary title page, which goes to reviewers, should be included, listing only the manuscript title.

Abstracts: All manuscripts, except Letters to the Editor, require an abstract of no more than 150 words. No references may be cited in the abstract. Please double-space the Abstract and place it on a separate page following the title page.

Implications: JBHS&R is committed to publishing manuscripts in applied behavioral health policy and services delivery as well as publishing articles based upon empirical research. All manuscripts must contain a section heading (with appropriate narrative) located near the end of the manuscript entitled “Implications for Behavioral Health Services.”

References

References must be cited in text and styled in the reference list according to the American Medical Association Manual of Style, ninth edition, 1998. The JBHS&R deviates from this style of referencing by spelling the entire name of journal publications in the references section of the manuscript. Only material that has been published, accepted for publication, or presented at a major conference can be included in the References. Page numbers should appear with the text citation following a specific quote. Arrange and number references as they appear in the text. If a reference is cited more than once, use the original reference number. In the references, name all authors and editors through the third; if there are more than three, list the first three et al. Journal titles, book titles, titles of presentations, and titles of technical reports should appear in italics (see below).

When references are cited, they should appear as superscript numbers in the body of the text and should follow all punctuation marks (for example, substance abuse treatment¹¹⁻¹³). References must not be created using Microsoft Word's automatic footnote/endnote feature. References must be included on a separate page at the end of the article and should be double-spaced.

Notes: These should be grouped together in a separate, double-spaced section after the text and before the References. In the text, notes should appear as superscript, lower-case letters. For example: This has caused a number of significant controversies^a....

Illustrations

Figures should be created using electronic software (i.e., Adobe Illustrator, Corel Draw and Photoshop). Please save files in both the application in which they were created (i.e., Microsoft Word) and as either EPS or Tiff files. Use computer-generated lettering. Do not use screens, color, shading, or fine lines. In lieu of original drawings and other material, a sharp, glossy, black-and-white photographic print between 5" x 7" and 8" x 10" is acceptable. Each figure should have a label on the back indicating the number of the figure, the names of the authors, and the top of the figure. Do not write on the back of figures, mount them on cardboard, or scratch or mar them using paper clips. Do not bend figures. Cite each figure in the text in consecutive order. If a figure has been previously published, in part or in total, acknowledge the original source and submit written permission from the copyright holder to reproduce or adapt the material. Supply a caption for each figure, typed double-spaced on a separate sheet from the artwork. Captions should include the figure title, explanatory statements, notes, or keys; and source and permission lines. Provide a camera-ready copy and a separate electronic file for each piece of artwork. Do not embed art in your text file.

Tables

Tables should be on a separate page at the end of the manuscript. Number tables consecutively and supply a brief title for each. Include explanatory footnotes for all nonstandard abbreviations. Cite each table in the text in consecutive order. They should be self-explanatory and not duplicate the text. If you use data from another published or unpublished source, obtain permission and acknowledge fully.

Permissions

Authors are responsible for obtaining signed letters from copyright holders granting permission to reprint material being borrowed or adapted from other sources, including previously published material of your own or from Lippincott Williams & Wilkins. Authors are responsible for any permission fees to reprint borrowed material. This includes forms, checklists, cartoons, text, tables, figures, exhibits, glossaries, and pamphlets; concepts, theories, or formulas used exclusively in a chapter or section; direct quotes from a book or journal that are over 30 percent of a printed page; and all excerpts from newspapers or other short articles. WITHOUT WRITTEN PERMISSION FROM THE COPYRIGHT HOLDER, THESE ITEMS WILL NOT BE USED.

Accepted Manuscripts

These papers become the property of JBHS&R and may not be published elsewhere without permission from the editor. Authors will be asked to sign a copyright transfer agreement (which must be returned prior to manuscript publication) acknowledging the manuscript transfer. Opinions and views expressed by authors in all manuscripts (including Commentaries and Letters to the Editor) submitted to the JBHS&R should not be construed to represent the opinions and views of the JBHS&R, the JBHS&R Editorial Board, the ABHM, the NCCBH, Lippincott Williams & Wilkins, or the University of South Florida. Authors are responsible for all statements made in their work, including changes made by the production and copy editors. Papers are edited to conform to JBHS&R style as well as to improve the effectiveness of communication between the author and JBHS&R readers.

Galley Proofs

Lippincott Williams & Wilkins prefers to email page proofs as PDFs to the corresponding author. If the corresponding author cannot receive the proofs electronically and prefer that we mail the hard copy proofs, the page proofs will be sent to the corresponding author's home address due to delays in institutional mail distribution. If home delivery is problematic, or if delivery to a business address is preferred, please indicate this on the Article Submission form (below). In some cases, we may opt to FAX the galley proofs to the corresponding author in the interest of time.

Reprints

These may be ordered at the request and expense of the author after the specific issue has been published. No pre-prints are available.
